AERO's 2011

Farm Tours

Big Sandy Thursday, July 7

Come and visit the Quinn organic farm, which is a family-owned and operated diversified cereal-legume crop operation located in north-central Montana. Quinn has extensive knowledge both as a researcher and a farmer, and has been experimenting with organic systems and crop rotations for over 20 years on his 3rd generation dry land farm. Learn about organic agriculture and oilseed production and processing, as well as hear presentations by specialists from MSU Northern's Bio-Energy Center describing their program and partnership with Quinn and other area oilseed farmers • Lunch is included in this all-day tour • $10 • Tour starts at 9:00 am • Limited to 100 participants

Great Falls Monday, August 15

This tour will highlight pastured poultry on two farms. We will meet at Groundworks Farm to learn about their integrated vegetable, herb, and poultry operation, and then travel down the road to McVeda Farm for lunch and to further explore their production, processing, and marketing strategies for broilers and eggs • $10 • 11:00 am - 3:00 pm

Moiese & Dixon Monday, September 12

Join us in visiting Ploughshare Farm in Moiese to learn about their diversified vegetable operation, collective marketing, and beginning efforts to raise Painted Mountain corn. We will then travel to nearby Fialky Farm to enjoy a delicious lunch and learn about their biodynamic operation raising cut flowers and market vegetables, as well as their biomass-heated greenhouse • $10 • 11:00 am - 3:00 pm
